

Are you looking for a position as a Physical Therapist, Occupational Therapist, or Speech Pathologist? Current graduate students at the University of Brenau have an exciting opportunity for positions available in August. These positions are available within school districts spanning across North Georgia and Tennessee, as well as Excel Therapy Services in Dalton, GA., offering a diverse range of experiences for students. Specifically for Physical Therapists and Occupational Therapists, positions are open with a preference for those with pediatric experience and licensure in Georgia.

In the school system, PTs and OTs will have the chance to work directly with students, providing therapeutic interventions to support their academic and developmental needs. Collaborating with educators and other professionals, students will play a vital role in enhancing the well-being and functional abilities of school-aged children.

Excel Therapy Services is actively seeking graduate students to join their team. We offer a dynamic environment where students can further develop their clinical skills and gain hands-on experience in pediatric care. Additionally, Clinical Fellow positions are available for Speech-Language Pathologists, providing structured training and supervision as students transition into fully licensed professionals.

These opportunities not only provide invaluable experiences but also serve as a launching pad for Brenau graduate students to embark on successful careers in their chosen fields, whether within the school system or our growing clinic.
